Hiring Manager

Goldman Sachs

Re: Interest in Joining Goldman Sachs

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my profound interest in contributing to the esteemed team at Goldman Sachs. Currently, I am a third-year Computer Science student at MAKAUT, with a specialization in full-stack development. My academic endeavors are fortified by practical experience, having secured the first rank in a prestigious hackathon organized by the Google Developer Club. Additionally, I hold certifications in Java from HackerRank and in soft skills from NPTEL IIT Kanpur, underscoring my commitment to both technical mastery and professional excellence.

Throughout my academic and extracurricular pursuits, I have cultivated a deep understanding of complex problem-solving, critical thinking, and the capacity to thrive in high-pressure environments. I am eager to leverage these capabilities at Goldman Sachs, where I can contribute to your innovative projects and further develop my skill set in an intellectually stimulating environment.

I am enthusiastic about the opportunity to discuss how my background, coupled with my drive for continuous learning, aligns with the visionary goals of Goldman Sachs. Thank you for considering my application, and I look forward to the possibility of contributing to your esteemed organization.

Yours sincerely,

Purba Choudhury

PROJECTS

- Calculator

This project involved building a functional and user-friendly interface that could handle basic arithmetic operations, and it was an excellent exercise in JavaScript, particularly in handling events and dynamic updates on the webpage.

- Tic tac toe

This project challenged me to implement game logic, manage user interactions, and ensure that the game was both fun and fair. I focused on creating a clean, intuitive UI, making it easy for users to engage with the game. It was a great opportunity to delve into algorithmic thinking and user experience design.

- Portfolio Website

created a Portfolio Website to showcase my work and skills as a web developer. This site serves as both a personal brand statement and a practical demonstration of my abilities in web design, development, and content management. It includes details about my projects, technical skills, and professional journey, giving potential clients and employers a comprehensive view of my capabilities.

- Travel website

which was designed to showcase various travel destinations with detailed descriptions, images, and booking options. This project emphasized the importance of responsive design and user engagement, as I had to ensure that the website was visually appealing and easy to navigate on both desktop and mobile devices.

- Medical Website

I developed a Medical Website that provided users with information about various medical services and allowed them to book appointments online. This project required a strong focus on accessibility and user trust, as it catered to a diverse audience seeking reliable healthcare information.
